

CHEBEAGUE ISLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY

November 2023

FINE ARTS RAFFLE- and the Winners Are -

Sometimes things are meant to be. Lynne McIntosh was the winner of Jeanne Mullin's Old Schoolhouse print. Lynne gave the painting to her dad, Don McIntosh for his 88th birthday. Don was a member of the Chebeague High School Class of 1953 – the last to graduate from the Old Schoolhouse now the home of the Chebeague Historical Society!

Other raffle winners were: Beth McNulty's Maine Mail – Meg Greene and Thomas O'Neil's The Fisherman – Melba Moynihan

Congratulations to the winners and thanks to everyone who supported the programs of the CIHS by buying raffle tickets.

The October 2023 mystery photo was the Candleberry Tea Room built c. 1926 on land leased from Nellie Hill Hamilton. It stood at the "Green A" - the intersection of North and South Roads - opposite the District 9

Schoolhouse. Sarah Edwards operated the tea room and had a lending library there. The tea room was built by Roy Hill, who apparently financed the operation with a 3-year mortgage of $784 plus interest. The Candleberry Tea Room was one of three tea rooms on Chebeague at that time. The other 2 were located at the East End. Marion Hamilton ran the Ice Cream Parlor and Tea Room across from the Hillcrest. Mina Doughty operated the Blue Heron Tea Room on the corner of Back Shore Road. In 1931 Nellie Hill Hamilton sold the building to Sarah Edwards who soon sold it to the Catholic Church. It was operated as a Catholic Chapel for a time. The building burned in the late 1940s. The lot was owned by the Catholic Church until the Diocese sold it to Bob Libby in 2004, who in turn sold it to the Great Chebeague Golf Club in 2018.
